MONT FERRY'S SELECTION

The choosing of W. Mont Ferry as chairman of the new American city committee means more to Americans than any other move since the convention.

Mr. Ferry's ability for organization and his thorough knowledge of the political situation here will enable him to direct the fight with sure generalship. He served in the city council six years and is now president of the council.

Motto for those who join the Herald-Republican staff: Abandon all ethics of the profession, ye who enter here.

AMERICAN SOLIDITY

Even before Darmer's statement that he would not attempt to run independent of the party ticket for mayor, those who have watched the development of the so-called insurgent movement in the American party knew that the real men who, believing they were right, have been directing the opposition to Mayor Bransford, would abide by the majority rule of the convention. These men are too big in personal and political caliber to bolt the party even after a majority ruling antagonistic to their wishes. The rank and file of American voters have swung in behind Bransford on the party ticket ninety-nine per cent, strong and those who haven't are the political hangers-on from whom loyalty has never been expected despite their spasmodic efforts to impress the real men of the party with their ability and genuine Americanism.

Don't despair, gentle reader, Sunday is coming and with it the editorial "Business and Trade" review in the Tribune.

Daly Heeds His Master's Voice.

The spectacle Assistant City Attorney Daly made of himself at the American convention on Saturday last not only disgusted his friends, but excited considerable unfavorable comment among even the most radical members of the anti-Bransford forces.

Of course, it must be taken into consideration that he realized he was fighting for his job for the next few years, and to a man in his position the fear of making an ass of himself was as nothing beside the thought of a possible cavity in the full dinner pail.

It was a terrible thing for him and for the precious Dinny to suddenly see in perspective the necessity of going to work after January first without any assistance from the public crib, and so it was but natural that the delegates should have been treated to his swan song to the music of the counting of the votes which gave Bransford the mayoralty nomination.

The despicable thing about the Daly performance was the certain evidence of his pliability and treachery. Only a few weeks have passed since he personally went to Mayor Bransford at the office of the latter, and told him that whether he wanted to or not, he simply had to run for mayor for another term. And now after having taken wise and proper council, he makes a scene in the convention after the votes have been counted because he is not gamester enough to conceal his bitterness.

He's a fine bird, this Daly, who hung around the American party until he got a job and now, while still retaining it, is so willing to turn on the man to whom he promised support only a little over two months ago.

One blessing will come with the change in the form of our local government. It will eliminate the Dinny-Daly double-dealing delegation from
